Clos Networks for Datacenters: G.I.F.E.E. Your Network!

Past event

Summary: Build a slightly smaller version of Google's network without the billions using Clos topology, BGP, config management, and Linux switches.

Bio: Martín Beauchamp is a Site Reliability Engineer at Shapeways, producers of fine 3d printed wares. He was first enticed by Wing Commander to crack the manual for MS-DOS and he hasn't stopped reading them. If you have a good manual to recommend, he's all ears.

It was a very interesting talk, Martin! Thanks to Tom for putting it together, and thanks to both Martin and Paul for taking time after to answer questions. I now have JuiceSSH installed :)
