Ines Sombra - Data Antipatterns

Past event

Engine Yard supports a broad set of databases, with lots of flexibility for customers to modify and configure their installations. But the freedom to adapt and extend standard functionality comes at the risk of unexpected negative consequences: seemingly benign modifications can seriously affect durability and performance.

During our years of helping customers, I've had the unique opportunity to observe common problems, patterns, and best practices with big (and not so big) data. In this talk I'll highlight the most common pitfalls and tell you how to avoid them (I will most likely rant about other things too!).

Bio:

Ines Sombra is the Lead Data Engineer at Engine Yard, where she spends her time thinking about the provisioning, configuration, and backups of data stores. Ines holds an M.S. in Computer Science and an M.S. in Information Management from Washington University in Saint Louis. Being a true Argentine, she has a fondness for steak, fernet, and a pug named Gordo.
