Title: Measuring real-world DNS performance at Stack Overflow

Speaker: Mark Henderson, SRE, Stack Overflow

Description: An in-depth look at how Stack Overflow records real-world DNS performance, and how you can do it too

Bio: In 2015, Mark joined the Site Reliability Engineering team at Stack Overflow in New York. He works on a small, dedicated team that keeps all of the infrastructure for one of the most trafficked websites in the world smooth and fast. With Stack Overflow serving over 40 million programmers each month, Mark designs and implements systems that keep Stack Overflow and the extended Stack Exchange network of sites available, fast and secure in a fast-moving modern DevOps environment.
