Details

Theo Schlossnagle is the founder and CEO of OmniTi, author, and frequent speaker at IT conferences worldwide.

Theo will talk about application and systems performance measurement and why almost everyone does it wrong. It's not hard to do right, but people often approach these things completely wrong. So, we'll look at some numbers, understand why they are misleading and talk about the right way to approach these problems. Since we can't always approach things the right way, we'll talk a bit about adding a tiny bit of value to the "wrong" approach.

Good talk - where can we get the slides? Theo said he's make them available. Thanks.
