Speaker: Thomas A. Limoncelli, SRE @ Stack Overflow

Topic: DNSControl: "DNS as Code"

<https://github.com/StackExchange/dnscontrol>

Description: Introducing dnscontrol: the DNS DSL and compiler that lets StackOverflow.com treat DNS as code, with all the DevOps-y benefits of CI/CD, unit testing, and more.

StackOverflow.com has a large and complex DNS configuration including many domains, complex CDN interactions, unavoidably repeated data, and more. The dnscontrol language permits us to specify our domains at a high level and leave the actual manipulations and updates to our automation. Massive changes, such as failovers between datacenters, are now a matter of changing a variable and recompiling. We've been able to address now.
